FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Com-Cycle Offers Free Electronics Drop Off in Celebration of its New Facility in Houston, Texas

Flanders, NJ – May 19, 2008 – Com-Cycle, a wholly owned subsidiary of AERC.com, Inc. announces the opening of a new processing facility at 1610 Greens Road, Houston, Texas. This is a 35,000 square foot location at which trained professionals will perform Secure Data Management services including equipment disassembly, refurbishment of electronics to be resold, as well as the sanitization of data storage devices. All processes performed at the site are in compliance with Local, State and Federal regulations as well as standards set by the Department of Defense for data handling and erasure.

In celebration of the opening of the new facility, all Com-Cycle facilities extend a special invitation to local residents and business owners wanting to responsibly dispose of their End-of-Life-Electronics. In addition to its new Houston, TX facility, Com-Cycle's other facilities are in Flanders, NJ; Allentown, PA; Ashland, VA; Hayward, CA; West Melbourne, FL. Every facility hosts Drop Off Fridays all year round where a minimal fee is usually charged for certain items that are dropped off. Members of these communities may drop off their electronics at their local Com-Cycle facility free of charge for the month of June on Fridays from 9AM – 3PM. This offer applies to small quantity drop offs and excludes Cathode Ray Tubes (CRTs). For a complete list of acceptable items, visit www.com-cycle.com.

Com-Cycle follows a Zero-Waste-To-Landfill Policy on all of its practices. In an age where info security is of utmost importance and a rising priority for personal computer users as well as institutions, we are proud to offer our services in the general Houston area. John Schuler and Doug Everett are Regional Sales Managers who are servicing the area.

“Com-Cycle is looking forward to its increased presence in the Houston, Texas area. This expansion gives the Company increased local capabilities in servicing its existing customer base as well as a tremendous factor in expanding its presence in the region. We look forward to working with the local community and being an active participant in helping to make Houston a greener place to live and work,” comments Lindsay Landmesser, VP of Sales at AERC and Com-Cycle.

About AERC Recycling Solutions and Com-Cycle
